Brundall does "Time Team" Few! No old stock found.

In June we were delighted to welcome a small team of archaeologists into the garden centre!

This year various properties around Brundall hosted a small test pit dug by a group of local High School students.

Our turn came in June when pupils from Taverham, City of Norwich School and Notre Dame spent two days digging a test pit in the garden centre. All under the direction of Access Cambridge Archaeology.

We removed one of the plant display stands to give the student access to the ground below. The pit was dug in 10cm layers designed to help the junior archaeologists work out what type of material was being discovered and what time period it related to.

Our building has stood on the site of both commercial and residential premises. The test pit covered many centuries. Before the pit had to be closed due to time constraints evidence relating to the 1600's had been discovered. There was still some way to go before it was expected that the pit would reach the natural soil level.

Our pit revealed many artefacts including pre-decimal coins, modern pottery, a 200 year old clay pipe. Some of the really interesting finds related to old tile and brick which could well have pre-dated the existing building. This shows that there had been human activity on the site of Brundall Home Hardware for at least 400 years.

The students were very well behaved and considerate to their working environment. A real credit to their respective schools.

The whole event was wrapped up with a visit from Carezza Lewis of Time Team.

Stop Moles!

We are often asked for methods of controlling the damage that moles can do to a lawn.

An effective humane way to treat this problem is a sonic repeller from STV.

This one works by solar power. Every few seconds a small vibration is sent through the ground at a frequency which drives the moles away.

We frequently recommend this product to customers and it is always a delight when they return to confirm that our advice has been effective.

Village Fun Day

Fun at last years
Best in Brundall Event

The Brundall and Acle Lions are organising a Village Fun Day at the Memorial Hall on Sunday 26 July from 12 noon.

Brundall Home Hardware will be attending with our usual array of fun and silly games, free balloons etc.

This promises to be a really great village event with lots of activities for all age groups. Many village groups will be represented, there will be arena events and a display of classic cars.

All in all this promises to be a great afternoon of village entertainment. Make sure you put the date in your diary.

See you there!

Yankee Candle is coming to Brundall Home Hardware!

We've established a relationship with Yankee Candle and will shortly be making modifications to the top part of the shop to be able to display this new range. Yankee Candles are very popular with many customers and provide an excellent choice of lasting scents.

Small candles start at just £1.80 and will burn for up to 10 hours. They are designed in such a way that the scent lasts right through the candle and with slow burn times they provide long lasting value. At home we find that the large jars, burnt for a few hours each day, will last up to three months.

Yankee Candle recommend trimming the wick each time you burn the candle. This will make the product last longer and burn cleaner. It will also prevent the jar from becoming discoloured.

Our stock range will include all of the popular scents in various candle formats. We hope to have the display installed during July. Special Christmas candles will be available later in the year.

Barking Heads

cheaper foods has significantly reduced.

This has given us the opportunity to introduce a new premium product from a company called Barking Heads.

Most of their foods contain circa 50% of human grade meat with good quality carbohydrates to facilitate the release of natural energy that your pet requires.

Barking Heads offer a 100% money back guarantee. You can try this product risk free.

If your dog won't eat it you won't have to pay for it!

One of the best things about an independent pet food store is that we are always looking out for the best food options for your pet.

We increasingly note the demand from customers for high quality feeds. Many customers now prefer to feed their pet a premium food rich in natural ingredients.

In fact we have been reducing the range of foods which are typically found in supermarkets as the demand locally for
